

Art of Tactic

Barbarossa 1941: Battle for the Danube

Manufacturer: Zvezda

Cost: $54.95

Number of Players: 2 or more

Complexity: Low

Estimated Game Time: 45 to 90 minutes

Rule Book: rule book and scenario book

Supplements: see below

Board Size: 3 double sided maps, 15 double sided terrain hexes and 6 elevation hexes

Number Counters: 21 plastic miniature plastic model units and 11 unit cards

Description

Battle for the Danube is the first expansion to the Operation Barbarossa 1941 miniatures game produced by Zvezda. It is part of the Art of Tactic series. Game play uses a unique simultaneous movement system that is both easy to learn and realistic. The game comes with twenty one (11) Romanian and Soviet combat units (including Soviet armored trains and river boats) and ten (10) fire and smoke markers. New terrain and tactics are introduced, to include lakes, railways, radio interception and airborne assaults. In addition, game boards, terrain, unit cards, dice and scenarios come with the set. This game can be combined with the original Operation Barbarossa game and inexpensive Zvezda models kits to create even larger battles. Virtually any tactical Eastern Front battle to be recreated on your table top.